What we offer

RateSetter Family Finance loans are designed to assist with legal costs for people going through divorce or civil partnership dissolution. We can also assist with children proceedings running concurrently.

We know that family proceedings can be a long process, and this can make paying legal fees upfront challenging. Some people may also have their capital tied up in assets central to the divorce proceedings which makes getting access to these funds difficult. An approved application gives clients piece of mind that their legal costs and disbursements are covered by their pre-approved credit limit.

RateSetter work with a wide range of law firms with family offerings, from sole practitioners to international firms. We welcome applications at any stage of proceedings, including pre-petition.
